Great July Sale.

The yearly July sale of L. S. Platt & Co., Newark, N. J., which has become the State's greatest summer mercantile event, began Tuesday, July 5th. The news is no less welcome because it is expected. These sales, built upon reliability, have gathered confidence and patronage, with every year, and become the standard of money-saving possibilities. There will be more and better bargains this year than ever—the result of the great expansion of the Bee Hive's business. The immense output of this store, together with trade conditions, has opened to it buying advantages without counterpart. You will find a storeful of the most seasonable and reliable merchandise at greater reductions than L. S. Platt & Co. have announced for any sale. This July sale is the demonstration of practical economy and the opportunity to practice it.—Advt.

Patriotic Service.

A patriotic service was held in the Park Avenue German Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening, and which was largely attended. Grand Army men, members of the Sons of Veterans Association and the Women's Relief Corps and other patriotic societies were present. The programme of exercises in all its features was a manifestation of the loftiest patriotic sentiment.

The Rev. Dr. Henry J. Weber of the seminary delivered an address. The Euterpean Orchestra assisted in the musical part. An original hymn "Our Happy Fourth," dedicated to the Grand Army veterans was sung for the first time in public on this occasion. A recitation entitled "Rally to the Color" was delivered by Miss C. Bollebech, and was as follows:

The annual recurrence of July 4 should remind every patriotic citizen that the one hundred and twenty-seventh anniversary of the birth of the United States flag should be recognized and observed. For more than a century and a quarter this flag has triumphantly floated in honor—a beautiful token of perfect liberty. It has never been borne on an oppressive mission, nor ever lowered in disgrace.

It was conceived through the blood of states, born in the travail of war, nourished in the cradle of liberty, and gathering strength through the years of a century or more, has reached the splendid stature of its prime that measures favorably with any figure in the group of nations.

There is, perhaps, no inanimate object on the face of the globe with more expressive life, than the flag of our country. It seems to be eloquent in a universal language all may understand. When it spreads its folds of red and white and blue, rippling in sunlight, it betokens victory, dignity, joy, power and command; when it droops it symbolizes compassion and sorrow, and draped over the casket of its protector and defender, it means regard and history—a becoming shroud for the soldier dead. The defence of the flag was the soldier's mission of the civil war, the preservation of it is the mission of every American citizen living under it.

The flag is the signal of protection; whether against foreign or domestic foe, the invader or lawbreaker, the revolutionist, socialist or anarchist, it is a sign the nation has set up proclaiming freedom to all, protection and humanity. The robe of justice: It invites the oppressed to rally beneath its folds; it warns against trespass within its sacred precincts.

It is a beautiful flag. Let every one elevated by its protection, stand before it impressed with reverence and uncover as it passes by, and let them gather it to their breasts with a loving embrace as they would fold an idol child they thought they had lost.

After ten years of earnest endeavor, the several States have enacted laws providing for the display of the flag over the school-houses of all districts where patriotism reigns. Under it, millions of children, who will govern the country in the next decade or two, are being educated to be loyal citizens.

The country saved by valor and sacrifice is made more secure year after year, as mind after mind absorbs the value of true patriotism. So then, fellow-citizens, let us hoist the flag on its coming birthday. It will mean that each home, beneath its protection, is a fortress to resist the approach of every foe. Over the castle of liberty let the flag fly, a signal of human freedom in its highest conception and the equality of man, of whatever race, that is the creation of infinite thought.

Fly it from every house-top, every public building, the shipping, from every movable vehicle, that the world may know the American people honor the flag, the love of which is the nation's safety. God grant that it may ever stand for liberty, equality and fraternity.
